Pastor's Letter

On Graduation Day, this Saturday afternoon, 27 of our eighth-grade students received their diplomas and they are now on their way to High School! Most of them will be attending Catholic High Schools such as Loyola High, Notre Dame Academy, Verbum Dei, and Saint Genevieve. We are proud of each of our students and we wish them all the best in the coming years!

We also recognize the sacrifices that the parents and grandparents made on behalf of these students so that their children would receive a faith-filled education that will prepare them for bright futures.

Last Saturday morning I was listening to President Obama's weekly radio address to the American people and he spoke of Judge Sonia Sotomayor who has been nominated to the U.S. Supreme Court. President Obama, in listing out Judge Sotomayor's accomplishments, mentioned how her father had passed away when she was just nine years old and how her mother made such great sacrifices to raise her children in a difficult environment. When the President pointed out that Judge Sotomayor had graduated from Princeton University and Yale Law School, he prefaced his comments by pointing out the sacrifices her mother had made so that she could go to a Catholic School that prepared her for her future education. When I heard that, I immediately thought of the parents and grandparents who have been so supportive of our students by placing such a high value on Catholic education!

This Wednesday, our Kindergarten students will graduate and will spend their summer getting ready for the first grade. If you have never seen one, a Kindergarten graduation ceremony is something not to be missed! Just watching the little ones try to keep their caps on straight is worth the time commitment! But, in each one of these faces, I see a future leader in our country, a future proclaimer of the Gospel and a future husband or wife, father or mother, who will share their faith with the coming generations!

To all of our graduates, I say, "Congratulations on a job well done! Keep up the good work!" And to all of our parents and grandparents, I say, "Thank you for your sacrifices and commitment on behalf of our children!" And to all who have school-age children or grandchildren, I say, "Please call the school office and arrange for your child to be tested for our school. And, remember: Education is the best investment you can make!"

May the Lord continue to bless us always and in all ways, Father Paul

Healthy Living...

Top 10 Places Germs Lurk in Your Home

Learn the surprising 'hot spots' for germs in your home and what to do about them.

By Kathleen Doheny

Germs in Your Home: Kitchen Sponges

Remedy: Replace your sponge once a week or so, Bright suggests. Or put it in the dishwasher regularly or soak it in bleach for about 15 minutes. The dirtier the sponge, the longer you have to soak it to be effective.

Germs in Your Home: Kitchen Sink

Remedy: If you think the last bit of soap suds from washing dishes will take care of things, think again. Soap doesn't kill bacteria. A favorite cleaning solution: bleach and water. The FDA suggests kitchen sanitizers or a homemade solution of one teaspoon chlorine bleach in a quart of water, then letting it sit on the surface you're cleaning for 10 minutes.

Germs in Your Home: Faucet Handles

Remedy: Use a disinfectant cleaner spray every time you clean up. In the kitchen, that should be once a day. In the bathroom, at least once a week.

Germs in Your Home: Home Offices

Remedy: Use disinfectant at least once a week on home office surfaces.

Germs in Your Home: Toilet Bowl

Remedy: Toilet bowl germs form a biofilm, that slimy layer that develops when bacteria attach to a support such as the bowl. Tackle that film with your chlorine bleach and water solution.

Germs in Your Home: Bathtub

Remedy: Give your bathtub a buff with bath cleaner or a chlorine-water cleaning solution mixed up at home.

Germs in Your Home: Shower Curtain

Remedy: Regular cleaning or replacement of the curtains is advised.

Germs in Your Home: Wet Laundry

Remedy: Bleach and drying time. The use of bleach reduced the number of infectious viruses on swatches after washing and drying by nearly 100%, the researchers found. Putting clothes through the drying cycle helped reduce viruses, too, and a hot water wash is good. If you use the dryer, put it on hot to kill remaining germs and separate adult clothes from kids' clothes.

Germs in Your Home: Vacuum Cleaner

Remedy: There's not much you can do about the brush. Vacuum the cleanest areas first and the dirtiest last.

That way, you'll be less likely to spread around as much bacteria. And if you use a bagless vacuum cleaner, wash your hands afterward, since bacteria can remain in the receptacle.

Germs in Your Home: Beds

Remedy: Place an "impervious" outer cover over the mattresses and pillows, to keep the debris contained. Then wash bedding regularly in water hot enough to kill the bugs.
